WELCOME TO LINCOLN

★ THE CAPITAL OF COLLEGE FOOTBALL ★

Welcome to the University of Nebraska and Memorial Stadium. You are part of an NCAA record today as we mark our 360th consecutive sellout, a remarkable streak that dates back to 1962. The loyalty of Husker fans is legendary, and your support is the reason Nebraska has experienced more success on the field and in the classroom than any other program in NCAA history.

You can take pride in knowing that your support has helped Nebraska Football:

- Win more games than any other team over the past 50 years
- Win more conference titles (46) than any other team in NCAA history
- Produce more CoSIDA Academic All-Americans than any other team in NCAA history
- Rank second all-time with 53 bowl appearances
- Rank fourth all-time in victories (893)

Your impact on this program cannot be underestimated, and we value your loyalty and enthusiasm. You are the best fans in college football and the reason There is No Place Like Nebraska!

Delivering on our mission of serving the people of our great state.

As our state's only land-grant, comprehensive research university, we are dedicated to our mission of serving people across Nebraska. To meet the needs of the state, we are focused on educating the next generation of leaders, providing research that is directly applicable to existing businesses and start-ups, and supporting communities through a variety of resources from Nebraska Extension.

Supplying Talent to the Workforce

There's no place like Nebraska: 15 of the top 20 places our graduates land jobs are in Nebraska. We draw new students in, and in turn, Nebraska employers can count on our grads for their talent needs.

Creating Innovation

Research that happens at a university often drives discovery, innovation and economic growth. The University of Nebraska is one of the best universities at making research tangible and useful. In fact, the University of Nebraska-Lincoln and its sister universities—UNMC, UNO and UNK—together rank among the top 16% in the nation for putting faculty research to work in the form of new products and services.

Shaping Future Leaders

Nebraska Extension is shaping future Nebraska leaders, reaching one out of three ageeligible youth in the state through 4-H. That adds up to 140,000 future leaders who live in all 93 Nebraska counties.

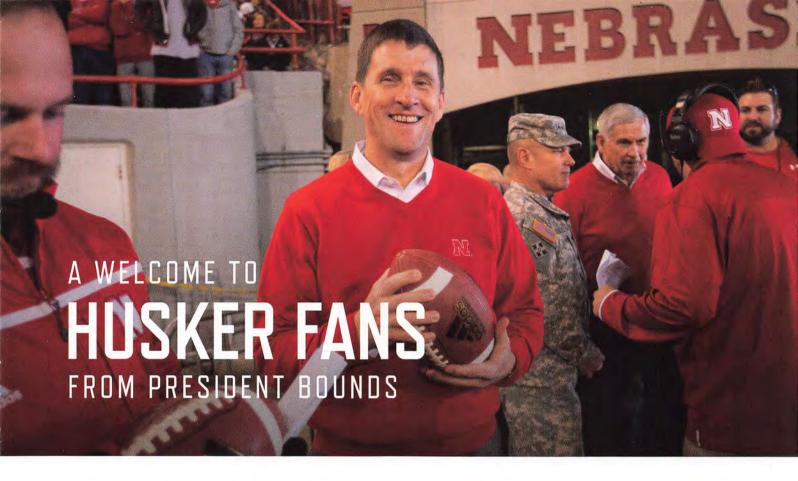

With your support and encouragement, we are expanding our ability to educate the next class of talented Huskers who will drive Nebraska's economy, innovate for Nebraska businesses, and shape future leaders in all 93 counties.

We appreciate your ongoing support of our Husker community... 60 BIG RED!

Tomis D. Snew

Chancellor, University of Nebraska-Lincoln

here's nothing like fall in Nebraska. It's a special season, full of traditions like Husker Football that bring families and Nebraskans together. Football is particularly special to me...because while Nebraska is successful on the field, what we're doing to support our student-athletes off the field is truly life-changing.

I BELIEVE NEBRASKA SHOULD BE THE BEST PLACE IN THE NATION TO BE A STUDENT.

What does that mean for our student-athletes?

- Students are at the heart of everything we do. We put their success and well-being first.
- The time student-athletes spend at NU should lay a strong foundation for the rest of their lives.

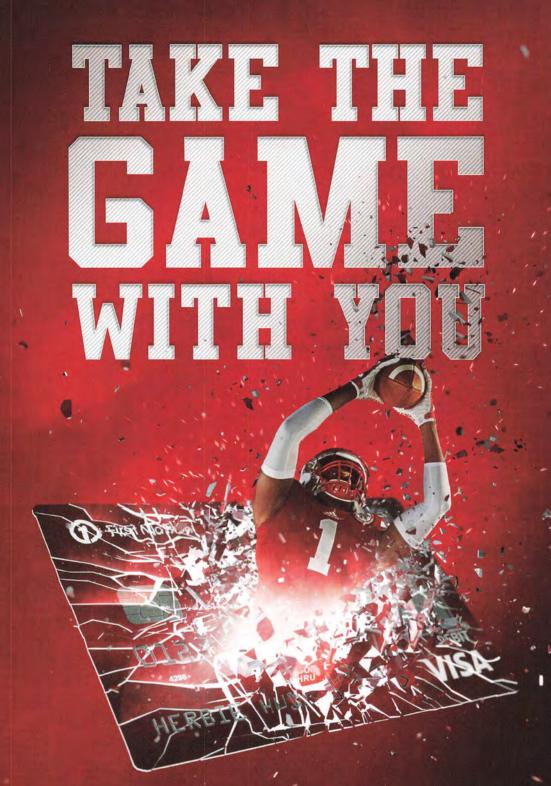

Nebraskans can be proud that we are a leader in supporting student-athletes. These young men and women are role models and ambassadors for the university and our state. They're engaged in their communities and focused on their goals. I'm impressed by their talents. And, I'm grateful to the coaches and staff who serve on their behalf.

The University of Nebraska should be a place where all students can succeed. Where they matter, where their education is second to none, and where they leave ready to take on their next challenge.

Thank you for your support of the Huskers and the University of Nebraska. Go Big Red!

HUSKERS HOST NORTHWESTERN ON MILITARY APPRECIATION DAY

Nebraska aims for its fifth win of the season this afternoon when the Huskers host the Northwestern Wildcats on Military Appreciation Day inside Memorial Stadium.

Both Nebraska and Northwestern are 3-2 in Big Ten Conference play. The Huskers have faced two top-10 teams in their first five league games, while the Wildcats have played three top-20 opponents in their first five Big Ten games. Despite the challenging schedule, Nebraska and Northwestern - along with Wisconsin - are the only West Division teams with a winning conference record entering play today.

Northwestern has won three consecutive games after opening its conference season with back-to-back losses to top-10 opponents. After beginning Big Ten play with two straight wins, Nebraska also suffered back-to-back losses to top-10 opponents. The Huskers got back on the winning track last weekend, rallying from a 12-point fourth-quarter deficit to post a 25-24 win at Purdue.

Nebraska and Northwestern have a history of playing each other close. Four of the six meetings between the programs as Big Ten Conference foes have been decided by three or fewer points, with each of the three games at Memorial Stadium decided by three points or less.

HUSKERS TIE LARGEST COMEBACK IN PURDUE WIN

Nebraska rallied from a 24-12 fourth-quarter deficit to defeat Purdue, 25-24, last Saturday. The Huskers cut the lead to 24-19 on a 27-yard touchdown pass from Tanner Lee to Tyler Hoppes with 11:03 remaining before Lee found Stanley Morgan Jr. for a 13-yard game-winning touchdown pass with 14 seconds remaining.

The 12-point comeback tied for the largest fourth-quarter comeback in Nebraska history. It was the fifth time the Huskers have rallied from a 12-point fourth-quarter deficit to win and the first time since erasing a 12-point deficit in a one-point win over No. 6 Michigan State in 2015.

MORGAN JR. TIES SCHOOL RECORD

Wideout Stanley Morgan Jr. continued his impressive junior campaign at Purdue last week when he caught six passes for 112 yards, including the game-winning 13-yard touchdown with 14 seconds remaining. The effort marked Morgan's fourth 100-yard receiving game in 2017, tying the Nebraska record for most 100-yard receiving games in a season.

Morgan has hauled in 39 catches for 652 yards and seven touchdowns this fall. He leads the Big Ten and is 17th nationally in receiving yards per game, and his seven TDs rank second in the Big Ten and 12th nationally.

MEMORIAL STADIUM NAMED IN HONOR OF VETERANS

Nebraska will recognize and salute veterans and active-duty military personnel throughout today's game in appreciation of their service to this country. Memorial Stadium was built after World War I and was dedicated in 1923 to honor Nebraskans who had died in all wars. The following words - written by former UNL professor of philosophy Hartley Burr Alexander - are inscribed on the four corners of the stadium:

Southeast: "In Commemoration of the men of Nebraska who served and fell in the Nations Wars."

Southwest: "Not the victory but the action; Not the goal but the game; In the deed the glory."

Northwest: "Courage; Generosity; Fairness; Honor; In these are the true awards of manly sport."

Northeast: "Their Lives they held their countrys trust; They kept its faith; They died its heroes."

- Nebraska has won 20 consecutive games when it has a positive turnover margin. The Huskers' last loss when winning the turnover battles was a 28-25 defeat to Northwestern in 2011.
- The Huskers have won 15 straight games when rushing for more yards than their opponent.
 - Brenden Jaimes made his fifth start at right tackle last week at Purdue. His five starts are the most by a true freshman Husker offensive lineman since freshmen regained eligibility in 1972.

SPIELMAN ONE OF NATION'S TOP FRESHMEN

Redshirt freshman JD Spielman had a school-record 200 receiving yards against Ohio State in Nebraska's last home game. Spielman broke the previous record of 167 receiving yards, set by Matt Davison at Texas A&M in 1998.

Spielman has been one of the nation's top freshmen playmakers this season, as he ranks fourth nationally among all freshmen in receiving yards (545), sixth in receptions (37) and third in all-purpose yards (959). Spielman's 200 receiving yards against Ohio State are the most by a freshman in college football this season, and his 99-yard kickoff return against Arkansas State is the second-longest play by a freshman this season.

LEE MOVING UP NEBRASKA SEASON PASSING LIST

Tanner Lee has thrown for 2,140 yards in his first season at Nebraska after spending his first two seasons at Tulane. Lee is just the third Husker to throw for 2,000 yards in his debut season, joining Zac Taylor (2005) and Sam Keller (2007). Lee threw for a career-high 431 yards at Purdue last week, the fourth-highest total in school history. Lee, who has recorded back-to-back 300-yard passing games, has already thrown for the ninth-most yards in a season in Nebraska history.

3 THINGS TO WATCH

The first three Big Ten games between Nebraska and Northwestern at Memorial Stadium have been decided by a total of eight points, with the largest margin being three points.

Joshua Kalu enters today's game with 196 career tackles. With four tackles against Northwestern, Kalu would become the sixth Husker defensive back to total 200 career tackles.

Devine Ozigbo enters today's game with 970 career rushing yards. He needs 30 yards today to become the 65th Husker to rush for 1,000 career yards.

THE NORTHWESTERN WILDCATS

Northwestern enters today's game one win shy of bowl eligibility. The Wildcats (5-3) are in second place in the Big Ten West Division with a 3-2 record. Northwestern joins Nebraska and Wisconsin as the only West Division teams with a winning conference record, which is notable for the Wildcats who have played three of their first five conference games against top-16 opponents.

After losses to top-10 foes Wisconsin and Penn State to begin its Big Ten slate, Northwestern has won three straight games, including backto-back overtime wins over lowa and No. 16 Michigan State.

Offensively, Northwestern is led by quarterback Clayton Thorson and running back Justin Jackson, two of the most productive players in program history. Thorson ranks fourth all-time at Northwestern in passing yards (6,748) and total offense (7,254) and this season, he has completed 61.4 percent of his passes for 2,044 yards and 10 touchdowns despite being sacked 24 times. Jackson is the Wildcats' all-time leading rusher and has rushed for 644 yards this season to rank fifth in the Big Ten. With his 4,773 career rushing yards, Jackson passed Nebraska's Ameer Abdullah last week for the eighth-most rushing yards in Big Ten history. Jackson ranks second among all active FBS players in career rushing yards.

Defensively, Northwestern is allowing 24.2 points per game, and the Wildcats rank 24th nationally in tackles for loss with an average of 7.3 per game. Paddy Fisher ranks third in the Big Ten with a team-leading 73 tackles, while Joe Gaziano is second in the league with 6.0 sacks.

NEBRASKA VS. NORTHWESTERN SERIES HISTORY

Nebraska and Northwestern have met 10 times, including each of the past six seasons as Big Ten Conference foes. The Huskers lead the all-time series, 7-3, and Nebraska is 4-2 against the Wildcats in conference matchups. Northwestern has won two of the three Big Ten games between the programs at Memorial Stadium, with the Huskers' only win coming on a Hail Mary in 2013. Only one of the six conference games between the programs has been decided by more than nine points, with four of the six games decided by three or fewer points.

• All-Time Series: Nebraska, 7-3

• In Lincoln: Nebraska, 3-2

• As Big Ten Foes: Nebraska, 4-2

• Win Streak: Nebraska, 1 game

ABOUT NORTHWESTERN FOOTBALL

Northwestern is in the midst of one of its greatest periods of prolonged success underhead coach Pat Fitzgerald. The winningest coach in program history, Fitzgerald has led the Wildcats to a pair of 10-win seasons and three nine-win campaigns in his first 11 years. Before Fitzgerald arrived, Northwestern had totaled only two 10-win seasons and four nine-win seasons in 124 seasons. Fitzgerald has also led Northwestern to seven of the program's 11 all-time bowl appearances. The only thing missing from Fitzgerald's resume is a Big Ten title, but he was a standout linebacker on Northwestern's 1995 and 1996 Big Ten championship teams.

• First Season: 1882

• All-Time Record: 530-661-44

• Big Ten Titles: 8

• Bowl Record: 3-8

ABOUT NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY

After three years of planning a university that would serve the Northwest Territory, Northwestern University's founders purchased a 379-acre tract of land on the shore of Lake Michigan 12 miles north of Chicago in 1853. They established a campus and developed the land near it, naming the surrounding town Evanston in honor of one of the founders, John Evans. Northwestern held its first classes in the fall of 1855.

Today, Northwestern is home to a dozen colleges and schools across three campuses: a 240-acre campus in Evanston, a 25-acre campus in Chicago and a third campus in Doha, Qatar. Northwestern is rated as the nation's No. 11 university by US News & World Report.

KALU MAKES AN IMPACT ON AND OFF THE FIELD

Kristen Nett, Nebraska Communications

Regardless of where he is on the field and what position he is playing, Joshua Kalu is a Husker football force to be reckoned with and has been since arriving at Nebraska in 2014.

Kalu joined the Huskers from Alief Taylor High School, where he was ranked among the top 80 safeties in the country according to the 247 Sports composite rankings. Kalu received scholarship offers from Colorado, Arkansas State, Duke, Houston, SMU, Wake Forest and Washington State, but only visited Nebraska.

Kalu's impact on the Nebraska football team was immediate as a true freshman in 2014. Kalu played in all 13 games that year, and started against Fresno State and Illinois.

Kalu played in all 13 games as a freshman in 2014, recording his first career interception against Miami in the fourth quarter, helping seal the Husker victory. He forced a pair of fumbles, one each against Fresno State and Iowa, and also recovered a fumble at Iowa to set up a touchdown. Kalu had six or more tackles three times, including a season-high seven against Illinois and six each at Fresno State and Iowa.

As a sophomore, Kalu started all 13 games working at cornerback and nickel back and earned honorable-mention All-Big Ten recognition. He was second on the team in both tackles (75) and interceptions (3) and tied for the team lead in pass breakups (7). His 51 solo stops also led the Huskers. Kalu added five tackles for loss and a sack and had at least six tackles in six games.

His junior year, Kalu again started every game at cornerback and finished the season with 66 tackles, including 48 solo stops. Kalu led the Huskers with 11 pass breakups and added an interception, three tackles for loss, a sack and two quarterback hurries. He made at least five tackles in seven games and had at least one breakup in seven games. In 2016, Kalu helped the Huskers rank as one of the nation's most improved defenses.

Prior to his senior season, Kalu moved from cornerback to safety. The Houston, Texas, native has battled a hamstring injury but has still recorded 28 total tackles and one interception so far in 2017.

In his career, Kalu has started 33 games, the most of any current Husker except senior place-kicker Drew Brown. Kalu has totaled 196 tackles - the most of any current Husker - and he ranks seventh in Nebraska history for career tackles by a defensive back.

Off the field, Kalu has made an impact as well. The senior child, youth, and family studies major will graduate in December despite not redshirting.

Additionally, he has volunteered his time with Make-A-Wish, NFL Fuel Up to Play 60, the Souper Bowl of Caring, Husker Heroes and Husker Hotline, as well as local hospital and school outreach events.

Kalu has been honored for his community outreach work with spots on the Brook Berringer and the Tom Osborne Citizenship Teams each of the past three years.

QUICK HITS

What drives you?

"How much pride I have for myself or God, just being a Godly man just knowing what it takes and how to keep on pushing and not leave a bad image when I leave this world, so a lot of things push me to be who I am every day."

How do you impact the team?

"Whenever times are tough, a situation doesn't look good... keep pushing, you never know what's going to happen...so always have faith and keep working."

How do you impact the community?

"The fun run, we have organized visits when we go to the hospital, where we interact with patients and little kids. Me and Keyan Williams last year, we had a whole bucket of donuts and we didn't want them anymore, so we drove around downtown and passed them out to homeless people, just for the heck of it. We're not going to do anything with it. Why throw them in the trash? So just doing little things like that."

'NEBRASKA NICE' IS NATURAL FIT FOR CANADA NATIVE DAVID KNEVEL

Rachel Long, Nebraska Communications

Moving from Brantford, Ontario, Canada, to Lincoln, Neb., has been a transition from one culture of nice people to the next for senior offensive lineman David Knevel.

Knevel, the Huskers' only international player on the football team, said Lincoln's calm and kind atmosphere reminds him of his hometown up north. In fact, the ride from Omaha's airport to Lincoln is strikingly similar to the one that takes him home from the Toronto airport.

Back in Brantford, located about 70 miles west of New York, the pigskins and turf fields are replaced by wooden sticks and ice rinks.

The 6-9, 315-pound Knevel grew up playing hockey with his twin brother, Michael, until the eighth grade when a family friend tried to recruit the two for a club football team. Knevel and his brother gave it a shot, and by the end of the ninth grade, Knevel had completely transitioned to football.

"I had no idea [I'd go to the U.S. to play football]," Knevel said. "Then I kind of grew out of hockey, and I just stuck with football and just went with it. I loved it and opportunities came, and I just took the best ones."

Knevel didn't receive his scholarship offer until his senior year, after he helped Team Canada to a 23-17 win over Team USA at the International Federation of American Football Under-19 tournament in Austin, Texas. Despite offers from Alabama, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Purdue, Baylor, Missouri, Vanderbilt and others, Knevel chose Nebraska because of the opportunity for a free education and the larger stage presented by the Big Ten Conference.

Living in Nebraska has only presented slight, subtle cultural differences for the offensive lineman, who finds life right in the middle of the United States to be exactly what he was looking for.

"I like the people a lot," Knevel said. "It's kind of slow, not too fast, which is like my hometown. It's comfortable, it's easy going. Honestly, I like a lot about Lincoln. It's just peaceful, chill, easygoing, nice people."

Knevel's best memory at Nebraska happened at the 2013 spring game, when he shared the field with 7-year-old Jack Hoffman, who was battling cancer as he ran a 69-yard touchdown.

"Just how much it meant to him and being out there with him and the impact of it, it was cool to be a part of that," Knevel said. "This was my first spring here, and I never thought I'd be on the field. I figured it would be with the ones or something, and all of a sudden I'm in the huddle and I see Taylor Martinez walk out to him, and I saw little Jack, and he's super excited and nervous and all that, and it was a lot of fun. You remember moments in the games and all that, but that was super unique."

After he graduates next month, the 2016 Academic All-Big Ten player plans to pursue football professionally, and hopes to eventually attend graduate school and law school to expand upon his current studies of history and political science.

But before he leaves, the four-time Brook Berringer and Tom Osborne Citizenship Team member looks to fulfill his role as a mentor for his teammates - a role he has always played.

"I just try to help out the younger guys and just try to be another voice they can work with when they're trying to figure things out," Knevel said. "But as I've been here, the more young guys that show up, I just try to mentor them."

QUICK HITS

What advice would you give to your 13-year-old self? "Just relax, it's fun."

What are three things people would be surprised to know about you? "I played hockey, even though I'm a big guy. The extent of my gaming, for a year and a half I was addicted to World of Warcraft. I'm really good at it. Other than that, I have a twin."

If you could be any animal, what would you be?

"Elephant. They're big, and they're scared of little things, which is weird, but at the same time they're just big and beastly, but when they move in a pack they're just so graceful, like offensive linemen."

What has been your proudest accomplishment?

"I was really proud when I got offered here, and the offers I got and coming here, I was very proud of that. That was a big moment for me."

SENIOR SPOTLIGHTS

SUCCESSFUL CONVERSION

Blake Otte, Nebraska Communications

Growing up, Kramer Rath wasn't much of a football fan, but he was a Husker football fan.

"My parents have season tickets and have been going to games since I can remember," the Lincoln native said of his childhood memories of the Huskers.

But when it came to playing, Rath was all about soccer. "I always had aspirations of going and playing Division I soccer somewhere," he said.

That dream faded after a knee injury ended Rath's soccer career, but he found a new way to compete. During the summer before his senior year, his father bought him 10 footballs and Kramer never looked back.

"All summer long, I just went out and kicked every day and tried to get better and get a hang of it, and it ended up working out," he said.

Rath laughed and called the transition from kicking soccer balls to footballs "weird. It's a little bit different, a little bit different shape. So you have to go out there and do it over and over until you get a feel for it."

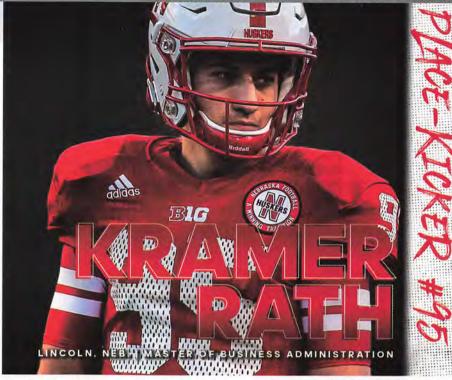

Rath played three years at Nebraska Wesleyan, where he was a starter and a three-time all-conference pick. His decision to join the Huskers as a graduate transfer was academic.

"First and foremost, I wanted to get my MBA," Rath said. "It made more sense to come here."

When his academic plans fell into place and he saw the walk-on opportunity in front of him, he couldn't help but take it. Rath's favorite part of being a Husker doesn't have anything to do with football.

"When you come to Nebraska, the abilities just as far as helping out the community and how people look up to you and the platform you're on, I think that's the coolest thing about being here is how many people you can impact, just as one person."

Whether it's from soccer to football, from Prairie Wolf to Husker or from MBA student to future business professional, Rath has a knack for conversions.

WATTS GRATEFUL FOR NU

Sophie Otte, Nebraska Communications

Matt Watts came to Nebraska after spending two seasons at Butte College in Oroville, Calif. Butte is known as one of the top junior colleges in the country, producing NFL stars such as Larry Allen, Alex Green, Aaron Rodgers and Junior Siavii.

"Both academically and athletically, Butte was a good school," Watts said. "It has a good football team. It was a really good place to learn and develop because it is one of the best junior college football programs out there. And academically, it was a good school too."

Watts says he is thankful for the time he spent at Butte, but that there is nothing better than being a Husker, because Nebraska has always had a special place in his heart.

"My dad grew up in Omaha and we would come back here for Thanksgiving," Watts said.

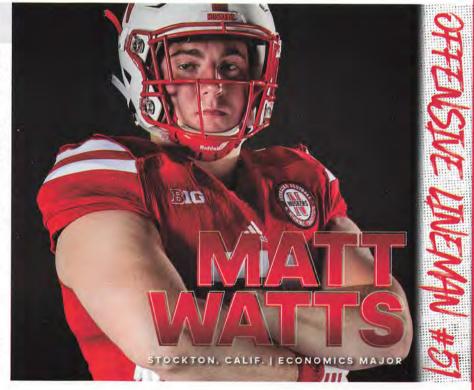

Having had grown up a Nebraska fan, being a Husker means being able to live out his childhood dream.

Watts says he is extremely happy looking back on his decision to transfer, not only because he was able to be a part of a Big Ten football program but because of the one-of-a-kind support he has felt from Husker fans, which is his favorite part about being a Husker.

"The fans really love us," he said.

His favorite memory as a Husker is the Oregon game last year when the Huskers beat the Ducks 35-32 in the final minutes.

After graduating, Watts plans to move back to California for work, but he knows that his Husker experience and the relationships and bonds created with his teammates will last a lifetime.

If you could see Nebraska through my eyes, you would see untold stories.

In a vast, rugged range.

You would see ancient geography.

And you'd find a love for spontaneous adventure.

You would see a place of raw nature.

Filled with color and texture.

You would see yourself on a different planet.

Surrounded by natural ruins.

My name is Derek, and this is Toadstool Geologic Park through my eyes.

WHY THE FLAG INSPIRES THE MURPHYS & KIFFINS

BY RANDY YORK

Today is a great day for Nebraskans to honor America's flag, respect our country's freedom and acknowledge two Husker football-related families – the Murphys and the Kiffins.

Those two families have more than enough combined courage and mutual valor to help defend our freedom and protect our country. They epitomize the spirited devotion of a Lexington, Neb., family that found a way to mix football into their lifelong passion.

Meet 'Little' Jim Murphy, a Lexington native who walked on as a Husker defensive back, earning two varsity letters on two Orange Bowl teams in 1981 and 1982. Jim is 58 now and recently retired as a lieutenant colonel after spending 39 years in the Nebraska Army National Guard.

In the last 2 ½ years, 'Little' Jim has worked in the Pentagon in Washington D.C., studying the physical evaluations of disabled American veterans who qualify to remain in the military or deserve compensation so they can move on in their lives.

"Football teams talk about adversity, but real heroes are the ones in the trenches saving lives and protecting freedom," Jim said. "The Army guys I know were in the trenches and in the foxholes. They cared about the people next to them and saved lots of lives. They knew what they signed up for and decided to help save the world.

"I was fortunate enough to be encouraged by father and grandfather," he said. "I grew up surrounded by the Army National Guard. It was an important part of our family."

'Big' Jim Murphy, 82, was a Nebraska football captain in 1956. 'Little' Jim's father also knows precisely why he is so proud to be an American, where at least he knows he's free. Like 'Big' Jim, 'Little' Jim will never forget the men who died and gave that right to him, his dad and every other American.

The Murphy and Kiffin families are entwined with football and freedom and proud to represent their hometown of Lexington in two vital ways: 1) serving their country; and 2) serving their state.

Monte Kiffin Jr. was a letter-winning tackle at Nebraska in 1961 under Bill Jennings before earning varsity letters in 1962 and 1963 under Bob Devaney. Following his playing days, Monte Jr. returned to Nebraska as defensive coordinator, helping the Huskers become 1970 and 1971 national champions.

Spending an off-season day with Nebraska's current coaching staff, Kiffin shared how his late father (Monte Kiffin Sr.) spent five years fighting in World War II while beginning his military stint two months after Kiffin Jr. was born.

The late Monte Kiffin Sr. never became a household name in college football, but his immediate family, which included both a son (Monte Jr.)

and a grandson (Lane Kiffin) are proud of the leadership he gave to his country, the legacy that he left and the sacrifice that he made.

"My grandfather was the company commander of the Lexington National Guard Unit," Jim Murphy said. "In athletics, you want to save your friends and the people around you. The same applies to life. He left Nebraska in 1940 and did not get back home until 1945 because he was saving our country in World War II. When he did return, he became the commander of that same Lexington National Guard unit that his dad left behind. It was not easy leaving three boys behind."

Murphy's father succeeded Kiffin Sr. to lead the same unit in Lexington. It was tough having a dad among those called up to fight in Pearl Harbor.

"My uncle didn't see his dad until he was five years old," 'Little' Jim said. "People don't understand or remember what that generation went through. We still have lots of letters my grandpa sent home while he was protecting us and everyone else in this country. That was part of why I joined the National Guard when I graduated from high school in 1978 and went to basic training in the summer of 1979."

A funny thing happened on top of that already big decision. "When I got back to Nebraska after that first summer, I started to grow," Murphy said. "Mitch Krenk grew up the same way in Nebraska's football program. We were both skinny before we walked on and went to work. We were like every other walk-on – we saw a chance, and we went all out for it."

Credit the "Army guys" that 'Little' Jim played in pick-up games during "real live" tackling. It became that one shining moment that helped him dream big and shoot for the moon at Nebraska. "I wasn't even on the freshman team," 'Little' Jim pointed out. "I just showed up in winter conditioning to see if I could participate. I was not on a roster. Some coaches wanted to know who 'that guy' was. They saw how hard I was working and asked if I wanted to come out for spring football."

Jim Murphy Jr. loves Nebraska football and everything it stands for, including the way the University of Nebraska "brings out the flags and honors all of our veterans," he said. "I love them all. The ROTC flag is important to our family, too. My dad was in ROTC at Nebraska and Molly Murphy (brother Dan's daughter), also signed up for ROTC and has already been trained through Airborne School."

'Big' Jim and 'Little' Jim will be on Tom Osborne Field today to show their appreciation and deep respect for Nebraska's military veterans, past, present and future.

"My dad was my hero growing up," Jim Murphy Jr. said. "The greatest tribute I ever had was when my dad told me he was proud of me. I've gone through life calmly, even through combat. That flag means the world to me. We may not be a perfect country, but we are a great country, and I'm very proud of that."

NEW AD BILL MOOS A 'PERFECT FIT' TO LEAD HUSKERS

BY BRIAN ROSENTHAL

Believe it or not, Oregon's athletic program once existed without Nike dollars, without the hundreds of different flashy football uniforms, without the glitz and glamour that recruits from all sports embrace.

Bill Moos knows. That's why he quickly corrected a reporter who assumed Moos once directed an Oregon athletic department where "money grew on trees."

Ahem.

"Well, let me set the record straight just a little bit on that," Moos said to begin his response. "When I got to Oregon, if money fell off trees, the trees were pretty barren."

This, of course, was 1995, when first-year football coach Mike Belotti was taking over a program that had gone 31-28 over the previous five years. The men's basketball team had produced just its second winning record in six seasons.

Not the Oregon of today.

"A lot of things had to be addressed. I felt it needed to be rebranded," said Moos, who served as Oregon's Director of Athletics from 1995-2007. "We needed to change the culture. We needed to get the building blocks in place to be successful, and it was my responsibility to go out and find those resources. They were not available then."

Moos helped increase Oregon's annual budget from $18.5 million in his first year to more than $40 million by 2007, and the athletic department became self-sufficient.

What's more, the Ducks started winning – 13 Pac-10 Championships across all sports, including a football team that developed a far-reaching identity and brand, and a basketball arena that began filling seats.

"Before you knew it," Moos said, "that culture had changed."

Nebraska's culture, financially speaking, is very sound. Moos, announced as Nebraska's new Director of Athletics on Oct. 15, takes over a fiscally responsible program. What fans hope to see next from Moos is his ability to help the Huskers win more often on the field of play.

Moos, who comes to Lincoln from Washington State University, where he served as Director of Athletics since 2010, remembers Nebraska's football program once being among the 'haves' of the sport, with the 'have-nots' making progress over the last decade or so.

"Now, having said that, there's no substitute for tradition and legacy, and Nebraska certainly has that," Moos said at his introductory news conference at Memorial Stadium. "What we need to do is make sure that that is polished and back there, and we need to compete in all of our sports."

Speaking of football, Moos wants Nebraska back among the hunted.

"We need to get back into that position," Moos said, "where everybody's circling Nebraska on the schedule, 'That's going to be one tough game, whether we're going to Lincoln or they're going to our place,' and I believe that's the Huskers' rightful place, and we're going to see what we can do to get back there."

In his seven years at Washington State, Moos secured a 10-year, $35 million marketing rights agreement with IMG College and led a $130 million addition and remodel of WSU's football stadium. As the dean of Pac-12 athletic directors, he was in a leading position in securing the conference's 12-year, $3 billion television contract with Fox and ESPN.

Moos, 66, retired from Oregon intent on living on a ranch and watching his son play football at Arizona State, then discovered his competitive juices were still flowing.

"Any of us who actually played the game, and especially at the collegiate level, your pilot light never goes out," Moos said. "It's begging for fuel and getting that adrenaline up. Dave (Rimington) can tell you, on game day, there's no greater thrill. I missed that, but most importantly, I missed the student-athletes. What I missed was the opportunity to have a positive impact on their lives at a critical time."

On the day of his hiring press conference, Moos had a short meeting early Sunday afternoon with Nebraska's head coaches. At least one of them, men's basketball coach Tim Miles, attended the introductory news conference.

"I really enjoyed listening to him. He seemed like a guy I could learn from," Miles said. "When you've got a guy who looks at this as a legacy type of job, look what he did at Oregon? Oregon was not Oregon years ago, and now we think it's this machine. It wasn't always like that. I think we're all excited about a guy like that with his experiences."

Moos said he will be open to fans and media, as he wants everybody to see the blueprint he's building for future success.

"I wholeheartedly wanted to run to this job," Moos said. "From the time I was a small boy on a cattle ranch in Eastern Washington, I always tuned into the Nebraska-Oklahoma game on Thanksgiving weekends. I never missed one. I even did it in college when I was a player myself. A storied, storied athletic program and a very prestigious institution."

University of Nebraska-Lincoln Chancelor Ronnie Green has numerous times mentioned the importance of fit for any job, but especially for a position held in such high regard by Nebraskans. He told of somebody who commented that it seems like Bill and Kendra Moos are native Nebraskans who've been living elsewhere for decades and now returning home.

That's not true, of course.

Well, at least not entirely.

"I'm not one that would take a job in an urban environment," Moos said. "I'm a rural boy. I feel like Eastern Washington is so much like the state of Nebraska. Good wholesome people with a great work ethic, down to Earth and love athletics and really love football."

UNIVERSITY RECOGNIZED FOR ITS SUPPORT OF MILITARY, VETERAN STUDENTS

Nebraska has joined the ranks of the nation's top institutions for veteran success.

In the past year, the university jumped into the Top 25 in Military Times' Best for Vets: Colleges 2017 rankings. Military Advanced Education and Transition's 2017 guide to colleges and universities also designated Nebraska a Top School for following best practices in military and veteran education.

"Nebraska is providing services that can make a difference for our student veterans and their family members," said Darrell Everhart, director of the university's Military and Veterans Success Center, which offers a range of veteran support services.

"This is a university that cares for and supports service members and helps them achieve their education goals."

From quiet study spaces and computer access to one-on-one counseling and assistance with military benefits, the center ease the transition to life at Nebraska and builds toward academic success, Everhart said. In addition, the university has established partnerships with ROTC programs, the Student Veterans Organization, admissions representatives, student advisers, and faculty; made space available to allow weekly "office hours" with a U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs representative; and offered career presentations led by local, state and national employers.

Craig Chandler | University Communication

"You need to connect directly with student veterans and their family members, offering things they are interested in and will help them succeed on campus," said Everhart, a retired 25-year U.S. Navy veteran. "That's what we're doing here at Nebraska."

FORMER NFL HEAD COACH IN HIS THIRD SEASON AT NEBRASKA

Mike Riley is often referred to as one of the nation's most underrated coaches. His peers recognized him as such in 2014, naming him the No. 2 most underrated coach in a survey of all FBS head coaches. Riley may indeed be underrated, but only to those not paying attention to his accomplishments.

Riley's coaching resume speaks for itself. An NAIA national championship coordinator before he turned 30. A professional head coach before he was 35. Two Grey Cup championships in his four seasons as a Canadian Football League head coach, where he was two-time CFL Coach of the Year. Four seasons of NFL experience, including three seasons as head coach of the San Diego Chargers.

Those accomplishments are enough to distinguish Riley from many of his peers and that's before one considers what Riley has achieved as an FBS head coach. Riley enters his 17th season as a college head coach this fall, and he is one of only seven active coaches who has recorded 100 wins at the Power Five Conference level. He also owns a 7-3 record in bowl games, ranking fifth in NCAA history in bowl winning percentage (minimum 10 bowl games).

Riley accepted his first college head job at Oregon State in 1997, spending two seasons with the Beavers before leaving for the NFL. He laid the foundation for the most successful stretch in Oregon State history by leading OSU to five wins in 1998, the program's first five-win season in 27

Following a four-year stint in the NFL, Riley returned to Corvallis in 2003. Over the next 12 seasons, Riley guided Oregon State to eight bowl games, nearly matching the total of nine bowl games OSU made in its first 105 years. Riley also led the Beavers to four of the program's seven nine-win seasons.

Riley accepted the Nebraska job on Dec. 4, 2014. In only two seasons at Nebraska, he has already distinguished himself at a program that has featured six hall-of-fame coaches and ranks in the top five all-time in wins. In his first season in 2015, Riley became only the fourth NU coach to win a bowl game in his debut season, which set the stage for an impressive second

In 2016, Riley led Nebraska to the program's highest-ever College Football Playoff ranking (No. 10) and NU was ranked as high as No. 7 in the AP poll. Riley, who was a candidate for the Paul "Bear" Bryant and Bobby Dodd Coach-of-the-Year awards, helped Nebraska to its best start in 15 seasons (7-0), as the Huskers were one of the last nine unbeaten teams in the country en route to posting the 50th nine-win season in program history.

In the past three seasons, Riley has coached the all-time leading passer in Pac-12 history (Sean Mannion) and the all-time total offense leader and all-time leading passer in NU history (Tommy Armstrong Jr.). He has also coached two different Biletnikoff Award winners, as Riley is the only active coach in the country to coach two different wide receivers who have won the award.

Riley's success is not limited to the playing field. Forty-seven Huskers have earned academic All-Big Ten honors in Riley's first two seasons and 43 of the 50 members of Riley's first two senior classes have already earned their degrees, including 39 student-athletes who graduated before playing their final game in a Husker uniform.

THE BIG TEN CONFERENCE

Since its inception in 1896, the pursuit and attainment of academic excellence has been a priority for every Big Ten member institution. But maintaining the conference's standard of competing at the highest level in athletics also endures as an important component of the Big Ten experience. Striking that balance between academics and athletics is integral to the Big Ten's identity. Recognized as one of intercollegiate sports' most successful undertakings, the Big Ten strives for success from its students not only on the field and in the classroom, but around the world as well.

PREMIER ACADEMIC INSTITUTIONS

- The Big Ten Academic Alliance is an academic consortium of all 14 Big Ten universities, which is widely considered to be the model for effective and voluntary collaboration among top research universities.
- Every Big Ten Academic Alliance institution ranks among the top 78 universities in the nation according to the 2014 Academic Ranking of World Universities, including six in the top 25.
- The Big Ten leads all conferences with more than 1,700 Academic All-Americans, including 47 honorees during the 2016-17 academic year.
- Big Ten Academic Alliance schools annually conduct $10 billion in funded research, $5 billion more than any other conference.

A HISTORY OF ATHLETIC SUCCESS

- Big Ten schools have won at least seven national championships in seven of the last nine academic years and at least five in each of the last 20 years.

- The Big Ten sponsors 28 official conference sports, 14 for men and 14 for women, including the addition of men's ice hockey and men's and women's lacrosse the last four years.
- The Big Ten leads the nation in total students competing in intercollegiate athletics and participation opportunities, and sponsors more official sports than all conferences except the Ivy League.
- Almost 1,400 Big Ten competitors have participated in the Olympics, winning more than 600 medals, including nearly 300 gold. LEADERS IN INNOVATION

- Took part in the nation's first bowl game, winning the 1902 Rose Bowl Game, and signed an exclusive contract with the Tournament of Roses in 1946, making it the first bowl with permanent conference affiliations.
- Awarded the first Big Ten Medal of Honor in 1915, honoring outstanding seniors who demonstrated excellence in academics and athletics.

The conference has produced at least seven national titles in seven of the last nine years, and seen more than 1,600 students earn Academic All-America distinction.

Big Ten students enter the future with everything they need to become influential leaders. Today's participants have learned to compete on the same principles as those that came before them, including the highest level of citizenship and sportsmanship. We encourage our fans to follow their lead. Cheer for your team, revel in victory and be gracious in defeat.

Students competing this season will contend for a championship, and relish an experience that will last a lifetime. We invite you to help them reach their goal both today, and in all of their future aspirations.

Sincerely,

James E. Delany Big Ten Commissioner

N THE HUSKER STUDENT-ATHLETE EXPERIENCE

PUTTING THE STUDENT-ATHLETE FIRST

Nebraska Athletics is one of the few self-sustaining athletic programs in the country. In 2016-17, Nebraska was one of only two collegiate programs in the nation to attract nearly 1.3 million fans across its seven major team sports through the doors of its world-class facilities. This incredible interest and support enables Nebraska Athletics to invest in the student-athlete experience, as well as the overall game-day experience. Nebraska is a leader in providing all the resources and support necessary for student-athletes to become successful in Academics, Athletics and Life. Nebraska will continue to strategically plan for avenues to strengthen the resources to support more than 600 Husker student-athletes across 24 sports.

ACADEMIC SUCCESS

More than 600 student-athletes, including Stanley Morgan Jr., benefit not only from Nebraska's full cost of attendance scholarships and the MacBook Air program, but also the amazing facilities and staff support within the Dick and Peg Herman Family Student Life Complex. Nebraska leads the nation in CoSIDA Academic All-America and NCAA Today's Top Ten awards.

ATHLETIC SUCCESS

Nebraska's strength and conditioning has long been at the forefront of college athletics. Under the direction of Boyd Epley, Nebraska has a staff of 14 strength coaches, including football strength coach Mark Philipp, who creates personalized strength and conditioning programs for Husker student-athletes.

LIFE SKILLS SUCCESS

The Husker Life Skills program allows studentathletes to continue their development and impact lives in the community. In 2016-17, Husker student-athletes completed more than 400 outreach projects. Nebraska also prepares student-athletes for their future profession with career fairs, networking nights, resume and job interview training and an innovative Post-Eligibility Opportunity program.

PROVIDING FOR A STUDENT-ATHLETE'S PHYSICAL & MENTAL NEEDS

Nebraska's Athletic Medicine facilities rank among the nation's best, while one of the most experienced medical staffs in the nation care for all Husker student-athletes. Nebraska's medical team consists of 13 full-time athletic trainers and eight graduate assistant trainers, led by Associate Athletic Director Dr. Lonnie Albers (pictured below, kneeling on left), Head Athletic Trainer and Physical Therapist Jerry Weber and Head Football Athletic Trainer Mark Mayer. A full staff of orthopaedists is also available to the Huskers, led by Dr. Richard Dugas (pictured below in white). The Husker Athletic Medicine team also includes a full-time, in-house athletic psychologist, and sports psychiatry consultants who work directly with Husker student-athletes.

SPORTS NUTRITION LEWIS TRAINING TABLE

Husker student-athletes have ample places to dine, as the Lewis Training Table is open extended hours for meals, while the North Stadium (pictured below) and Hendricks Training Complexes have areas for supplements for recovery after workouts or for snacks throughout the day. Nebraska's three full-time sports dietitians work with the Lewis Training Table manager and executive chef to plan and prepare meals to help maximize performance for student-athletes. Nebraska's individual nutritional counseling focuses on performance nutrition strategies, hydration, quality food choices and proper supplementation to help student-athletes reach their full potential.

A NATIONAL LEADER IN STUDENT-ATHLETE AID

In August of 2014, the NCAA Division I Board of Directors restructured the way member institutions and conferences, including the Big Ten, govern themselves. Nebraska has a great history and tradition of providing unmatched benefits and support to student-athletes. However, this change in governance, and subsequent legislation, paved the way for Nebraska to enhance the benefits and experiences for student-athletes. A few examples of these enhanced benefits are:

- All scholarship student-athletes across all sports have their scholarship calculated based on the full cost of attendance.
- Each student-athlete is offered an Apple MacBook Air laptop computer to enhance their learning opportunities.
- Nebraska has increased resources and support in all academic and performance related areas including but not limited to Academic Services, Life Skills, Athletic Medicine, Athletic Training, Strength and Conditioning, Nebraska Athletic Performance Laboratory, Nutrition and Dining Services (Training Table) and Sports Analytics.
- Nebraska created the first-known Post-Eligibility Opportunity (PEO) program, where every student-athlete graduate who has exhausted their athletic eligibility has the opportunity to pursue (with Nebraska support) an internship, participate in a study abroad program or attend graduate school within the University of Nebraska system.

NEBRASKA'S ACADEMIC PROGRAM

ACHIEVING EXCELLENCE IN THE CLASSROOM

Nebraska is known for its balance in aiding student-athlete achievement both on the field and in the classroom. Husker student-athletes benefit from one of the most respected and successful academic programs in college athletics. Nebraska provides as many resources for student-athletes to train their minds as it does for student-athletes to train their bodies.

The Huskers' academic program is widely regarded as one of the most innovative and comprehensive academic support systems in the country. The academic unit, located in the Dick and Peg Herman Family Student Life Complex, provides personal and academic support to ensure that student-athletes will get the most out of their years as Huskers. The academic support team is composed of 14 full-time staff members and is certified by the National Association of Academic Advisors for Athletics (N4A) as meeting the standards established by the N4A.

NEBRASKA'S LIFE SKILLS PROGRAM

PREPARING STUDENT-ATHLETES FOR SUCCESS IN LIFE

Complementing Academic Support Services is the comprehensive Life Skills program, continually recognized as a model of service to prospective, current and former student-athletes. Nebraska provides Life Skills programming for every student-athlete. The mission of the Life Skills program is to provide proactive education fostering the acclimation to the University of Nebraska, promote total person development best preparing studentathletes for life after sport, and serve as a powerful recruiting resource for each team.

In May of 2017, 22 student-athletes traveled to Nicaragua (above) as part of the NoFilter program to serve abroad with Seeds of Learning, a nonprofit organization that helps to create educational opportunities in rural Latin America. Over the course of one week, these Huskers experienced a new culture, created new friendships and relationships, and most importantly, helped build additional classrooms for a school in the town of Villa Japón.

Husker student-athletes are also active members of the community, volunteering their time at numerous local events. Junior defensive lineman Freedom Akinmoladun (bottom left) has served as a motivational speaker for local youth rallies, while Husker football players make several visits to local hospitals each year (bottom right).

One of the highlights of every summer, the annual Nebraska Football Uplifting Athletes Road Race (above) has raised over $100,000 for pediatric brain cancer research in its five-year history. Nebraska football has been a national leader in outreach activities for decades.

Nebraska's Life Skills program also hosts numerous events designed to help student-athletes get a head start on their career, such as an annual Career Fair (bottom right).

PROACTIVE EDUCATION

The Life Skills team organizes several orientations aimed at acclimating student-athletes to college life. Additionally, all incoming student-athletes attend the fall semester Husker Life Seminar. This interactive class promotes responsible decision-making, personal brand, financial literacy, leadership, involvement and service.

INDIVIDUAL MEETINGS

Every Nebraska student-athlete is assigned a Life Skills staff member who will assist with personal and career development. The meetings help each student-athlete identify a career focus and implement a plan to increase career marketability.

CAREER COMMITMENT & NETWORKING

Annually, Nebraska Life Skills organizes a Student-Athlete Career Fair, Networking Night (pictured bottom right) and other career events aimed at connecting Huskers with companies desiring competitive, hard-working, accountable candidates. Athlete Network and Husker Hire Link provide opportunities to explore career opportunities across the country.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH

Nebraska student-athletes readily accept the rolemodel challenge, collectively giving more than 8,000 hours annually to impact thousands across the state of Nebraska. Outreach events include but are not limited to hospital visits, mentoring, school assemblies, statewide rallies (including the Sportsmanship 4 Life Pep Rally, pictured opposite page, bottom left), Make-A-Wish, School is Cool and Husker Heroes.

LEADERSHIP

Nebraska Life Skills provides student-athletes with countless opportunities to enhance leadership skills while distinguishing themselves from the competition. Student-athletes can be members of the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee, Uplifting Athletes Chapter or Inner Circle. UNL offers more than 600 recognized student organizations allowing athletes to collaborate with other campus leaders for common goals. Nebraska Life Skills funds and coordinates an annual one-week service abroad trip that allows 20 student-athletes to work together toward a common goal while enriching cultural competencies.

RECOGNITION

In 2016-17, a record 82 Husker Football student-athletes were named to both the Tom Osborne and Brook Berringer Citizenship teams for completing a minimum of six service projects in the calendar year. A host of other recognition opportunities at the institutional, Big Ten and NCAA levels that all reflect the high ideals, character and servant leadership nurtured through community involvement also are available.

POST-ELIGIBILITY OPPORTUNITIES

Effective December 2015 and beyond, studentathletes who letter and graduate will have a three-year window to benefit from one of three post-eligibility opportunities each valued at $7,500. Upon completion of required seminars, graduates can either study abroad, complete an internship or begin graduate school within the University of Nebraska system.

DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION

The Life Skills program also is responsible for all Diversity and Inclusion initiatives for Husker Athletics. Since 2016, the Diversity and Inclusion Summit has reached all student-athletes and staff members with programming emphasizing respect, acceptance and unity. Numerous other special events are coordinated in collaboration with campus departments highlighting the diversity within Husker Nation.

NEBRASKA FOOTBALL FACILITIES

WORLD-CLASS FACILITIES PROVIDE PEAK PERFORMANCE

The University of Nebraska provides its football student-athletes with every resource needed to be successful. All of the football facilities are conveniently located inside the Tom and Nancy Osborne Athletic Complex, within steps of Memorial Stadium. In addition to playing in one of college football's best stadiums, Nebraska boasts four practice fields, including two indoor facilities, three FieldTurf fields and one grass practice field. The Huskers also benefit from world-class athletic medicine, nutrition and strength and conditioning facilities located just steps from their spacious locker room, which features a personalized iPad at each locker. Up one flight of stairs, an entire floor of the Osborne Athletic Complex is dedicated to football student-athletes, an area which includes a large auditorium, position-specific meeting rooms with video capabilities, coaches' offices, historical displays and a player's lounge which provides a comfortable space for football student-athletes to relax.

HAWKS CHAMPIONSHIP CENTER

Connected to the Osborne Athletic Complex by an indoor skybridge, the 81,200-square foot Hawks Championship Center provides a full-sized indoor practice field with a FieldTurf playing surface identical to Memorial Stadium. The Huskers also have access to a second indoor facility, the Cook Pavilion, located adjacent to the outdoor practice fields.

HISTORICAL DISPLAYS

Nebraska's rich football tradition is on display throughout the Osborne Athletic Complex and Memorial Stadium. Five national championship trophies are prominently displayed in the main lobby of the facility and the Cornhuskers' three Heisman winners and other major award winners are prominently featured.

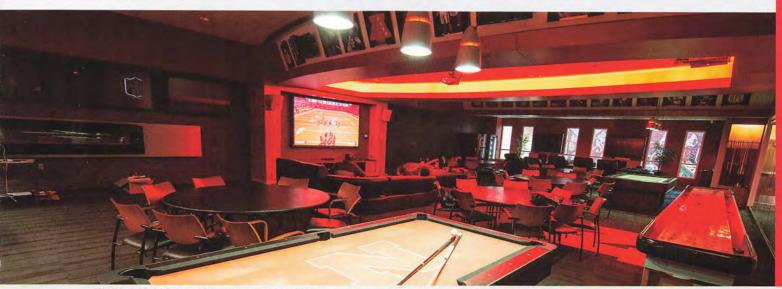

ED AND JOYANNE GASS PRACTICE FACILITY

The Ed and Joyanne Gass Practice Facility (above) consists of two full-size playing fields, one with FieldTurf and the other with natural grass. The practice fields are connected to the Hawks Championship Center, giving Nebraska three practice fields for maximum efficiency during practice.

NEBRASKA PLAYERS' LOUNGE

Nebraska players have a dedicated lounge (below) to enjoy during their down time. The comfortable lounge area features all the latest technology and includes a display to highlight Nebraska's rich NFL tradition.

A PIONEER IN STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

The University of Nebraska was the first NCAA school to have a paid strength and conditioning coach, the first to lift weights in-season, the first to hold an official summer conditioning class for student-athletes and the first to offer a degree for strength coaching. Husker Power is a nationally recognized brand and a source of pride for Nebraska Football.

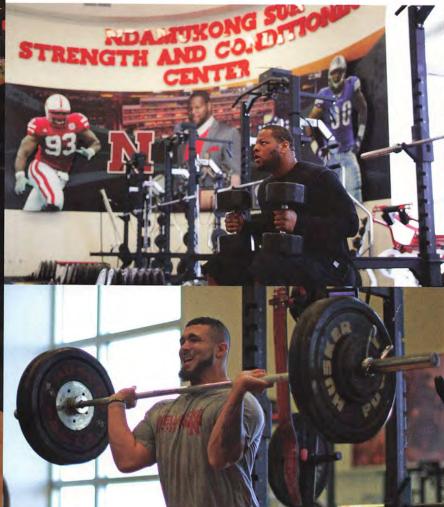

Nebraska football student-athletes train throughout the year in the Ndamukong Suh Strength and Conditioning Center, one of the nation's finest facilities of its kind. Built in 2006, the facility is one of the largest in the country and is a unique, state-of-the-art complex.

The facility gives Husker student-athletes a technological and strategic advantage by combining state-of-the-art strength training innovation with top-notch coaching and programming. The Ndamukong Suh Strength and Conditioning Center contains a field turf agility track adjacent to the strength training equipment allowing for high impact strength programming on different dynamic surfaces.

The football strength and conditioning staff consists of five full-time staff members, led by Head Football Strength Coach Mark Philipp. The staff works with Husker football student-athletes teaching proper strength and conditioning techniques, allowing them to reach their maximum potential.

The latest upgrade to the Ndamukong Suh Strength and Conditioning Center took place in the summer of 2015. The facelift nearly doubled the number of lifting platforms and included new equipment and new apparel. The layout changes allow the strength staff to redesign and implement a program that accommodates each individual athlete with the most beneficial exercises in an efficient period of time.

Components considered in the new weight room layout included accommodating a larger number of athletes per group and the time and space required to enhance performance and reduce the risk of injury.

NEBRASKA ATHLETIC PERFORMANCE LAB

A PIONEER IN SPORT SCIENCE

The Nebraska Athletic Performance Laboratory (NAPL) is recognized as the first performance research center within a collegiate athletic department. The NAPL features a talented, multidisciplinary team that includes a full-time director, assistant director and biomarker lab director, and two research post-doctoral fellows.

Located in East Memorial Stadium adjacent to UNL's Center for Brain, Biology and Behavior (CB3), the NAPL collaborates with Nebraska's Performance staff and athletic programs to offer the highest level of integration of sport performance technologies and systems.

The NAPL is made up of the Mark and Debra Classen Cardio Area, James and Karen Linder Dynamic Performance Center, Markin Family Collaborative Center, Thayer Family Athletic Research Lab and cutting-edge equipment donated by the Suzanne and Walter Scott Foundation. The main entrance for the research facilities is located in the Janet and Gerard Keating Family Concourse.

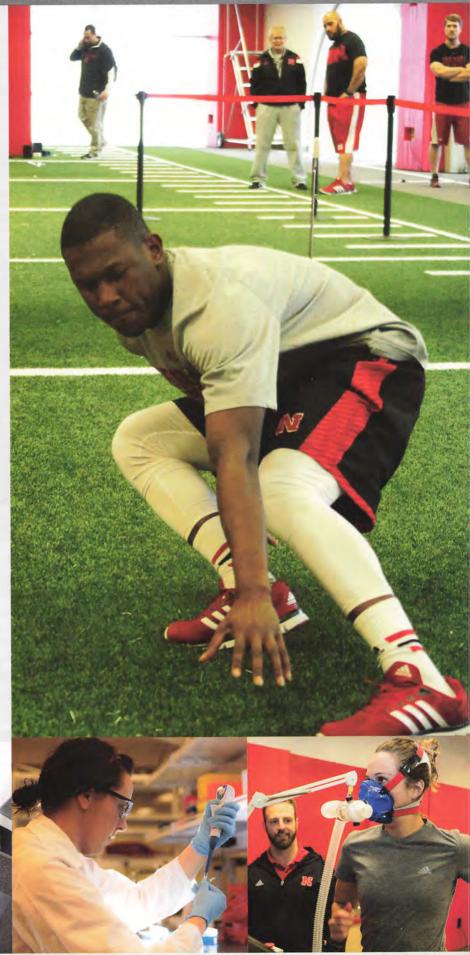

Focused on student-athlete health, safety and welfare, the NAPL is a world-leading research and performance facility focusing on the performance enhancement, safety and long-term well-being of student-athletes.

The NAPL includes simulated athletic environments for studying performance, incorporating a camera system to track human motion capture videos (3D) to measure athletes in their development through testing results to create an athletic performance index for each athlete, force plates to measure ground reaction forces and state-of-the-art technology to assess physiological limitations and biomarkers, investigate exercise cardiovascular capacity and measure body composition.

All 24 Husker athletic programs conduct performance testing at NAPL. Force plates and motion capture videos (3D) are used to measure athletes in their development through testing results to create an athletic performance index for each athlete.

The NAPL uses IDexa as an advanced, accurate and reliable method to analyze and measure body composition.

The focus of the Thayer Family Athletic Research Lab is recovery from competition, travel and all stressors a student athlete might experience by measuring salivary biomarkers hours prior to and up to 24 hours post-competition.

NEBRASKA ALL-TIME GREATS

THE HISTORY BEHIND NEBRASKA'S RETIRED JERSEYS

Following the 1949 season, the N Club voted to retire jersey No. 60 in honor of Tom "Train Wreck" Novak's stellar career with the Cornhuskers. Novak, the first Nebraska player to have his jersey retired, had been a four-time All-Big Seven choice and a 1949 All-American. Novak remained the lone Husker to have his jersey retired until 1972, when Johnny Rodgers started a new tradition. Rodgers' number was retired immediately after his playing career after he claimed the 1972 Heisman Trophy, the first Husker to win the prestigious award.

Beginning with Rodgers, all major national award winners at Nebraska automatically have their jerseys retired, but their numbers will still be available to active Huskers. Nebraska players who have earned the distinction of jersey retirement include three Heisman Trophy winners, eight Outland Trophy winners with a nation-leading nine awards, one Johnny Unitas Golden Arm Award winner, one Davey O'Brien Award winner, one Butkus Award winner, one Rimington Trophy winner - a trophy which was named after legendary Husker Dave Rimington - one Bednarik Award Winner and one Bronko Nagurski Trophy winner.

As of July 1, 2017, a total of 17 Huskers had been honored with the distinction of having their jerseys retired. Those players have combined for 23 All-America awards and 10 are members of the College Football Hall of Fame.

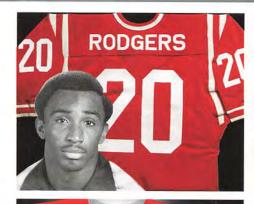

1993 Butkus Award winner Trev Alberts is one of 17 players with their jersey retired at Nebraska. Alberts is the most recent Husker selected to the College Football Hall of Fame and was honored with his on-campus salute in October of 2015.

HUSKERS IN THE COLLEGE FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME

The University of Nebraska is well represented at the National Football Foundation and College Football Hall of Fame in Atlanta. In December 2015, Trev Alberts became the 17th former Husker enshrined (pictured below) alongside six former Nebraska coaches in the Hall of Fame (pictured in box on right). Former All-America tackle Ed Weir claimed the honor as the first Husker player enshrined, while coaches Fielding Yost and Dana X. Bible were also inducted the same year (1951). Coach Tom Osborne, inducted in 1998, is the most recent Husker coach enshrined in the hall.

Note: Years denote letters earned at Nebraska. Year in parenthesis denotes year of induction into the Hall of Fame.

NEBRASKA AND THE NFL

There is No Place Like Nebraska to train for a career in professional football. Nebraska is the only college football program with a former NFL general manager on staff, providing student-athletes with NFL expertise and connections that simply can't be matched by any other school. On the field, Mike Riley spent three seasons as head coach of the San Diego Chargers, making him one of only eight active FBS coaches who also served as an NFL head coach. Three Husker assistant coaches also coached in the NFL.

- More than 400 former Nebraska players have played in the NFL.
- At least one Husker has been selected in 55 consecutive NFL Drafts, the fifth-longest streak in NFL Draft history.
- At least two Huskers were selected in every NFL Draft from 1963 to 2016, the longest such streak in NFL Draft history.
- A former Husker has appeared on a Super Bowl roster for 25 consecutive years, the longest streak in the nation.
- Five different former Huskers have been selected for the Pro Bowl in the past two seasons.
- Two former Huskers were inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 2015.
